CHAPTER ONE

US Stores That Do Not Ship To Package Forwarding Companies

Package forwarding gives you international shipping from any US store. But some stores refuse to ship to addresses associated with international package forwarding companies, or “freight forwarders.”

On the next pages you will find a list of stores that are known to cancel customer orders if the shipping address is recognized as an international package forwarding company. However, there are ways to get international shipping from any company on the list.

If the store you want to order from appears on the Blacklist, sign up for a package forwarding account and read our guide to learn how to get these products anyway!

CHAPTER TWO

The Blacklist

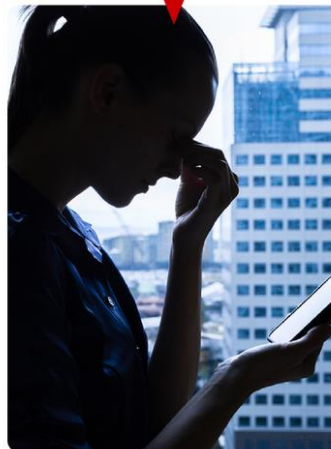

Abercrombie & Fitch, Apple, BestBuy, Coach, Coach Factory, Hollister, Kate Spade, Lego, Lenovo, Lord & Taylor, Macy's, Sony, Target, The House, Tommy Hilfiger, WalMart and Zara.

The Blacklist Explained

Unfortunately, not all brands and web stores accept orders from customers using a package forwarding address and or an international credit card. This is where it gets a little tricky as the 'rules' are not the same for each Blacklist company.

Some will take orders that are made with a US credit card with a package forwarding address while others might take an order from a foreign credit card but not with a package forwarding address. The cancellation of orders can sometimes seem somewhat random; the important part is to get more information and not be frustrated! OPAS can help!

CHAPTER THREE

How To Order From Stores That Do Not Ship To Forwarding Companies

If the store you want to order from appears on The Blacklist, chances are that any order you place with that store using a forwarding address will be cancelled. Right now, the two best ways you can order from the stores mentioned above using your package forwarding address are:

1. Use an Alternate Address

OPAS is the only forwarding company that offers an alternate address that you can use if your order is cancelled when using our regular address. If your order is cancelled by a store because they won't ship to a forwarding address, try the alternate address. After you register, you will have an access to receive the alternate address in your account portal.

2. Use Your Personal Shopper

This service is built into your package forwarding account, so if you already have a package forwarding address, then it's already set up and ready to use. Just log in to your account and fill out a Personal Shopper request form. List what store you want to buy from and what items you want, and your Personal Shopper will buy the items for you.

Since your Personal Shopper will buy the products directly, your order will go through without fail.
